HAPPY NEW YEAR

With the beginning of the New Year we look backward with pardonable pride to our achievements of the year past. The Music Project has definitely become a part of the musical life of the State. More concerts were given--and more requests for concerts were received--than during the two preceding years.

But such a record, far from being something to sit back and view with pride is merely a spur to further and greater effort. Nineteen Thirty-Nine gives promise of being bigger and busier in every way.

Perhaps the greatest single achievement in the past season is the almost startling advance in the number of appreciation of music concerts in the schools of the State. During the months of September, October, November and December a total of 564 concerts were presented, more than double the number during the same period last year. The total audience at these concerts is well over 250,000. A truly remarkable record!

An indication of the growth of the number of sponsored concerts is shown by the schedule for the month of January which lists 28 such concerts--nearly double last January's mark of 16. More and more, organizations are taking advantage of the opportunity to sponsor this type of high quality entertainment in their community.

The Teaching Division of the Music Project has won well-merited commendation for its work. This little known activity of the Music Project, through its corps of experienced teachers is giving nearly 3,000 lessons each week to children who would otherwise never have a chance to explore the beauties of music.

NORTH BROOKFIELD

The Worcester Concert Orchestra, Clayton A. Eaton conducting and the Southland Singers of Boston under the direction of Lycurgus Lockman will present a joint concert at the Town Hall, Tuesday evening January 3. The concert is being sponsored by the North Brookfield Women's Club. Admission, 25¢.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Lawrence is our "honor city"this week. The "boom" towns of the mining and oil regions of the west and southwest had their counterpart in New England on the shores of the Merrimack River in the middle of the last century.

The Essex Company, headed by the astute Daniel Saunders, was organized to take advantage of the water power from the falls on the River on territory belonging to Andover and Methuen. That was in 1845. Two years later the town of Lawrence was incorporated and so rapid was the growth of this new town that six years later it was a city.

The name Lawrence was a tribute to the family name of three members of the organizing group.

Due, in large part, to the mills of Lawrence the Merrimack River became known as the greatest source of water power for textile mills in the world.

Although founded as a business enterprise, the founding fathers were far-seeing men and one of their first acts was to donate 17⅓ acres of land in the heart of the city for Lawrence Common.

The City Hall, featured on our cover this week, was remodeled in 1924, but the distinguishing feature of its tower was retained.

Lawrence today is still a thriving industrial town with a variety of manufactories.

Mephistopheles	Henry Kelly
Valentine, Margarita's Brother	Martin Albrecht
Wagner, a student	Louis Pasco
Margarita	Joan Ruth
Siebel, a youth	Frances Meller
Martha, friend of Margarita	Edna Holmes

THE STORY

ACT I

The first act introduces us to Faust, aged scholar, wearied of life (In vain do I call) and about to swallow a poison draught. He is deterred, first by the gay songs of peasants(Careless idle maiden, wherefore dreaming still) who pass under his window, second by Mephistopheles who comes at Faust's call (If I pray, there is none to hear), shows him a vision of Margarita and promises the old man youth and the delights of love in return for his soul. The bargain is struck, Faust is transformed into a dashing young man, and he and his companion go in search of adventure.

They are next seen at a village fair where students, soldiers, peasants are all singing gaily (Still or sparkling, rough or pure) and enjoying a holiday. Valentine, about to leave for war, thinks tenderly of his sister Margarita and pours out his thoughts in song (Even bravest heart may swell). Wagner, a student, essays a song (A rat who was born a coward), is interrupted by Mephistopheles who says he will sing "a much better one" (Song of the golden calf). The crowd applauds the talented stranger who further amuses them by telling fortunes. For Siebel he predicts that whatever flower he touches will wither in his grasp.

Valentine, interpreting as an insult the gallant stranger's proposal of a toast to Margarita, draws his sword and would attack him,but finds that some magic renders his blade powerless against this sinister intruder. Quickly reversing his sword and holding aloft its cruciform hilt,he leads his fellows in a solemn incantation against the evil power of their adversary, whom they now recognize.

Margarita returning from church passes through the throng, refuses Faust's offer to attend her to her home. Mephistopheles appears at Faust's elbow, tauntingly suggests that his aid will be necessary in Faust's conquest of the adored one.

ACT II

Siebel,who promised Valentine to guard his sister, enters Margarita's garden. Mindful of the sinister stranger's prediction, he tests it by plucking flowers (Gentle flowers in the dew) which promptly wither. He breaks the spell by dipping his fingers in holy water, plucks more blossoms and leaves them at Margarita's door.

Mephistopheles enters with Faust who, now madly in love with Margarita, sings a rapturous song before her cottage (All hail thou dwelling pure and lowly) The Tempter places a casket of jewels beside Siebel's flowers,draws Faust hastily into the shadows as Margarita emerges from her door. She spins and sings (Reigned a King in Thule of old). Rising,she suddenly discovers the flowers and the jewels. Decking herself in the latter,she sings the famous "Jewel Song".

Martha,the village gossip,enters to find Margarita rapturous in her new finery. Faust and Mephistopheles suddenly come from their hiding place.The latter engages Martha in conversation while Faust pours out his love to Margarita.The maiden finally tells her lover "Good Night" and goes indoors, but Mephistopheles craftily draws Faust into the shadows and bids him wait. Presently Margarita appears at her window, reveals her love in song to the stars. Faust, beside himself, rushes to his beloved, clasps her in his arms, and darkness envelopes them.

ACT III

Margarita, now an object of scorn and jeering to her neighbors, still adores her lover. For consolation she goes to the church to pray (O Thou Who on Thy throne givest ear) is tormented by Mephistopheles and his demons who forbid her to seek comfort in prayer (No thou shalt pray no more). In despair she rushes from the cathedral.

Martial music is heard and the soldiers returning from war sing the "Soldiers' Chorus". Valentine enters his sister's house. Mephistopheles instantly appears, and beneath the window, sings an insulting serenade to Margarita. Rushing forth to avenge the affront, Valentine is slain by Faust, whose sword is rendered impregnable by his evil companion. Dying, Valentine tells the assembled neighbors that 'twas his sister's lover who slew him, pronounces a curse upon Margarita, expires.

ACT IV

Condemned to death for killing her child, Margarita is languishing in prison, is visited by Faust and Mephistopheles. Her poor disordered mind is unable to accept Faust's plea to flee with him. She sees only the horror represented by his companion. Calling upon Heaven to save her, she sinks in death. As morning breaks, Mephistopheles triumphantly drags Faust away believing Margarita damned, but an angelic chorus announces that repentance has brought her salvation.

The HAYDN Symphony played on this program is numbered 13 according to the original Breitkopf and Hartel numbering. In the more recently compiled list of Haydn's works it appears as Symphony number 88. It had its first performance at Esterhaz in the year of its composition, 1786, with the composer conducting.

CESAR FRANCK'S Symphonic Poem "Psyche" was one of his last works, composed two years before his death. The six movements are separated by choruses which, however, have been so seldom heard that the work is generally accepted as orchestral.

MANUEL de FALLA still maintains his position as leading impressionistic composer of Spanish origin. The opera represented on this program was composed in 1913, had its first performance the same year at Nice.

JOHANN STRAUSS assured himself of lasting fame by expending his great ability in composition upon forms which all could understand and appreciate. A peerless composer of waltzes, he also wrote many successful light operas.

FREDERICK SHEPHERD CONVERSE, son of Harvard, distinguished American composer, eminent educator. His "Euphrosyne" Overture was composed for Timothee Adamowski when the latter was conducting the "Pops".

In the 16th and 17th centuries unaccompanied part singing was not a matter of concert performance. It was a pastime in which nearly everyone could and did join. It was inevitable, then, that both words and music of the songs which survived a first trial should appeal to the singers, who in cross section were "the average man". So love was the predominating theme, with an occasional excursion into humor. The tendency in mood was always toward frankness. With few exceptions the numbers offerred this afternoon by the Madrigal Singers belong to this school.

THIS WEEK ____

Norwood is our "honor city" this week.

Norwood, like many towns in its section of the state was once part of Dedham. In fact it was part of Dedham from 1635 when it gloried in the Indian name of "Tiot" until 1872 when as the result of a meeting in the village hall, the name "Norwood", commemorating an English village near London, was chosen and the Great and General Court of Massachusetts heeded a petition by a group of citizens for separate autonomy.

At that time the population was 1825 persons and the territory comprising the new town was taken from Dedham and Walpole after a commission had determined various property lines and values.

Today, Norwood has a population of 15,574 and while principally a residential town its tanneries and book printing establishments have spread its name world-wide.

The Norwood Memorial Municipal Building displayed on our front cover is in Gothic style and features a tower 170 feet high with a carillon.

The Norwood Teachers' Association is sponsoring "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" by the State Chorus and Commonwealth Symphony Orchestra of the Music Project with Peter T. Bodge conducting at the Junior High School on Friday evening, January 20.

BOSTON
Sunday afternoon, January 15, the American Folk Singers, Thomas Johnson conducting, will be heard at the Harvard Club of Boston.

The State Symphony Orchestra, under Alexander Thiede, combines with the Triangle Male Chorus at Jordan Hall, Saturday evening, January 21, at 8.15. The Viking Male Chorus of Boston is sponsor.

TURNERS FALLS
Springfield Civic Orchestra, Milton J. Aronson conducting, will be heard in a concert under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club, Thursday afternoon at four o'clock and in the evening at eight at the High School Auditorium.

SIGMUND ROMBERG, naturalized American citizen, bridge builder by trade, (which he hasn't followed for thirty years) is knownto the public as composer of 'sure fire' light operas, BLOSSOM TIME, STUDENT PRINCE, MY MARYLAND, DESERT SONG, VIENNESE NIGHTS, the latter for talking pictures.

DAVID GUION'S orchestral arrangement of that saucy and nimble American tune,"Turkey in the Straw",has been pronounced by Percy Grainger "a cosmopolitan masterpiece". Would that lesser folk who sneer at it would be as honest,and admit that they secretly yearn for such music while outwardly they glorify atonalism and bend the knee before abstruse formlessness.Here is a tune as simple and as perfect as a wildflower, as spontaneous and as timeless as a peal of laughter. In Guion's treatment is glowing color, lilting rhythm, amazing variety, everything which ingenuity tempered with good taste can evoke from orchestral resources. "Music should create moods when we hear it," Henry Hadley once said. Haven't we here the true American mood of optimism, friendliness, good will, courage?

Not infrequently a parallel has been drawn between ETHELBERT NEVIN and Felix Mendelssohn for the reason that both were born into cultured surroundings, raised in luxury, and produced music significant for its charm rather than its vigor. The question as to whether either or both would have produced a different sort of music had they faced hardship can be of academic interest only. Let us be thankful that there have been two musicians who rejoice in their ability to express beauty. We have always with us in large numbers those who labor ponderously to solve the riddle of the universe or to express eternity in tone.

Nevin composed his WATER SKETCHES in 1891 when he was living on Pinckney Street in Boston. NARCISSUS was the last of the five, and he dashed it off at a sitting. Immediately it was published, it became a favorite everywhere,and together with THE ROSARY by the same composer, it has maintained its place in popular favor through the years. W.W.H.

N O T E S

The MOTET, which first appeared in the thirteenth century as a development from the earlier CONDUCTUS, is primarily a sacred part-song, contrapuntal in style, for two or more voices a cappella. Originally composed in the medieval modes, it has gradually changed through the centuries, and can rightly be called the forerunner of the anthem of today.

The MADRIGAL, secular counterpart of the Motet, made its first appearance about the year 1340, mainly as the work of Netherlandish composers inspired by Italian poets. By the fifteenth century, composers in France and in Italy had adopted the form, and the popularity of the Madrigal became universal. In Italy, "a reaction against the frivolity and vulgarity of the FROTTOLA", a choral form greatly favored by the nobility, was in large part responsible for the immediate acceptance of the Madrigal. The fact that every part in a well written Madrigal is contrapuntally interesting as well as admirably vocal accounts for the perennial popularity of these works among singers.

FOLK-SONGS are unique in that they are the natural product of innate musical feeling, without benefit of the composer's genius. Every country has its literature of folk-music, individual in melodic and rhythmic characteristics, strongly suggestive of the racial temperament of the nation which produced it. All folk-music is monophonic, and admits of only the simplest harmonisation without contrapuntal development. E.W.H.

Sjörfararen Vid Milan PALMGREN
(Seafarer at the Kiln).
This song pictures an old seaman working at the bygone trade of making wood charcoal. In a small outdoor earth-covered oven he is obliged to watch the smouldering embers to keep them from burning brightly. As the years go by he tends his coals gazing out longingly at his beloved sea, the gentle winds from the ocean stirring the pines where he sits by the earth-covered coals. Always he looks toward the sea so far away ---- so far away.....

Stjärnsången (Song under the Stars) TEGNER
The stars so brightly gleam, so gay,
Lighting our lonely wanderers' way;
Oh, to soar as on wings of a bird
To the stars, lightly, swiftly, heavenward.

HUGO ALFVÉN, Ph. D., Mus. Doc., is Music Laureate of Sweden, an appointment comparable in importance to that of Poet Laureate in England. This fact is of particular interest to Americans, indicative as it is of the official recognition accorded music as a public asset in European countries. A somewhat similar example comes to mind in the case of Finland, where Jan Sibelius enjoys a generous annual grant from the government as a guarantee that the products of his great talent as composer may not suffer as a result of pecuniary hardship.
Dr. Alfvén is happily remembered from his visit to this country a year ago, when he conducted "Midsommarvaka" at an Esplanade concert. This work consists of a series of gay and plaintive tunes separated by orchestral interludes. Not a few of these melodies are from the folk lore of Sweden. The whole piece is welded together with taste and expertness, and forms a pleasing illusion of a midsummer night's dream.

KURT ATTERBERG is another composer whose importance to the community has been attested by a government subsidy. Previous to this grant from his native Sweden, he divided his time perforce between music and engineering. Since about 1920 his mind, thanks to an artistically enlightened government, has been free to give its best to creative music. Six symphonies, two string quartets, two concertos, an opera, are prominent in his list of compositions.

The suite on tonight's program is in many ways Atterberg at his best. From the rapturously beautiful Prelude to the bizarre and noisy Finale, individuality and skillfulness abound. Effective use of both harp and horns is characteristic, as is the persistent reappearance of the minor six-four chord. Atterberg can be dissonant, as he proves in number six, but his dissonance is logical and effective, and never oversteps the bounds of propriety. It is to be hoped that Hans Andersen's fairy tales may inspire him to further effort along the lines laid down by this ballet.

WERNER JANSSEN is an American of Swedish parentage, a composer whose life is New York, and whose works follow the most modern trend. In "New Years Eve in New York", Janssen has played the part of an ace reporter who has used a tonal candid camera in preparing his assignment. The work is photographic in its accuracy and its inclusiveness. One who hopes sometime to watch the passing of the old year in the metropolis should not listen [illegible] aurally for him to anticipate. The genius with which both ante and post midnight effects have [illegible]

THIS WEEK

Arlington is our "honor city" this week.

Founded in 1635 when Captain George Cooke and his brother, Joseph, received a grant from Cambridge to build a mill on the Mystic River at "Menotomy" it has been successively, Second Parish, Cambridge, West Cambridge and in 1867, to avoid confusion with the parent town, "Arlington". At one time it included Belmont and part of Charlestown.

Arlington gave early promise of being an industrial town. A variety of manufactories took advantage of the Mystic's waterpower. Drugs and dyestuffs, sawmills, wool carding, chair and cabinetmaking and boots and shoes were among its products. The war of 1812 checked this growth and from that time it has been principally a residential suburb of Boston.

Early toll roads helped increase the popularity of the town and later a stage line, that ran thrice weekly beween Lowell and Boston. Still later enterprising business men organized the Lexington and West Cambridge Branch Railroad over whose lines ran the first train to enter the Fitchburg Depot in Boston, now the North Station.

Arlington is famed for market gardening, a form of agriculture which proximity to Boston encouraged. Land for market gardening in Arlington is reputed to be worth more per acre than anywhere in the United States.

Among Arlington's prominent citizens is the venerable Cyrus E. Dallin, undoubtedly America's outstanding sculptor. Among his works, the "Appeal to the Great Spirit", standing in front of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, is one of the best known.

American Legion Band Arlington Post No. 39 is sponsoring a performance of Gounod's "Faust" by the State Chorus and Commonwealth Symphony Orchestra of the Music Project, with Peter T. Bodge conducting, at the Town Hall, Friday evening January 27 at 8.15. Tickets are $1.10, 55¢ and 35¢, including tax.

The post headquarters is depicted on our front cover.

SOMERVILLE

The State Symphony Orchestra offers an appreciation of music concert at Somerville High School, Tuesday, January 24.

QUINCY

An appreciation of music concert by the State Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Thiede conducting, Wednesday afternoon, January 25.

THIS WEEK

District Notes

DISTRICT ONE

Appreciation of music concerts will be presented in Lynn schools Monday by the Salem Federal Band, Bartlett Lyons conducting, and the Essex County Symphony Orchestra, Mario Carmosino conducting. The Salem Federal Band will appear at St. Michael's School in West Lynn while the Essex County Symphony will present a program for pupils of the Cobbett and O'Keefe Schools at Classical High School's Auditorium.

DISTRICT TWO

The Everett Federal Orchestra, Vincent DeNunzio conducting, will present the weekly program at the Malden Infirmary Wednesday afternoon, January 25.

The Yiddish Orchestra, Charles Rosen conducting will present a musical program at the Chelsea Public Library, Monday evening, January 23 at 8 o'clock. The Polonia Club of Chelsea is sponsoring the concert and also an exhibition at the library of Polish books, pictures and handiwork.

DISTRICT THREE

A glance through the schedule pages of this bulletin will show a great number of concerts available in the evening for adults in community centers throughout Boston. Every section of the city is represented, Charlestown, Roxbury, West Roxbury, West End, South End, to name a few. As different bands or orchestras visit these places each week, it is possible for regular attendants to hear a wide and pleasing variety of music. Why not look up a concert near your home----it will be an evening well spent.

DISTRICT FOUR

The recent performance of "Faust" by the State Chorus and Commonwealth Symphony Orchestra in Whitman was accorded one of the most enthusiastic receptions ever given this opera. The Whitman Times wrote, "A large, yet somewhat curious crowd nearly filled the hall for the unusual spectacle of opera on the Town Hall stage and departed later thrilled by what it had seen, quite some cheer-filled minutes of hand-clapping after the final curtain had been drawn".

The Times also lauded the presentation in a Page 1 Editorial.

DISTRICT SIX

The Hampden County Federal Band will present an appreciation of music program for pupils in the elementary grades of Lawrence Junior High School in Holyoke, Wednesday afternoon, January 25, and for the High School pupils on Thursday, January 26.

State Director William Haddon of the Music Project will speak this week at the following places: Brockton Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce Building, Tuesday noon, January 24; Hudson Rotary Club, Legion Home, Tuesday evening, January 24 at 6 o'clock; the Quincy Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce Building, Wednesday, January 25; Lawrence Rotary Club, Lawrence Y.M.C.A Thursday noon, January 26; and the Alpha Club, Blackstone Parish House, Friday, January 27.

THIS WEEK...

Fall River is our "honor city" this week.

Members of the Plymouth Colony in 1656 settled at Pocasset on what became known as "Freemen's Purchase", later to become Freetown. Quequechan, the name of the river whose waterpower attracted these hardy pioneers was the Indian word for "Falling water" and naturally enough part of Freetown began to be known as Fallriver.

In 1803 Fallriver became a separate town but a year later the name was changed to Troy. In 1834 the inhabitants requested it be changed to Fall River to avoid confusion with the eight or nine other "Troys" in the country.

The combination of waterpower and excellent harbor facilities appeared to foreordain Fall River to a prominent place in the world of manufacture and industry. A beginning was made in 1811, when Colonel Joseph Durfee built a cotton mill. Although this venture was short lived, it pointed the way and other mills were soon erected until by the middle of the last century Fall River was among the world's great textile center.

True to early New England traditions, Fall River has always had a fine educational system, including the famous Bradford Durfee Textile School. The first city in the Commonwealth to supply pupils with free books was Fall River.

Although the city's lifeblood, the textile industry, is no longer in a flourishing state, the citizenry of Fall River has never ceased to carry on bearing in mind the motto on the city seal "We'll try".

The Post Office pictured on our front cover was first occupied in 1932, also houses the Custom House and other government offices.

LAWRENCE

Turn Hall, Lawrence, will be the scene of another of those eminently successful concerts by the Essex County Federal Orchestra under the direction of Mario Carmosino, on Sunday evening, January 29th at 8.15 o'clock. The Saxophone Sextet with Perley Stevens conducting will round out a well balanced program.

NORTH QUINCY

The first of a series of music appreciation concerts will be given by the State Symphony Orchestra, with Alexander Thiede conducting, at the North Quincy High School Auditorium, on February 2nd at 2.30 P.M. Included on the program is the ever popular "Largo" by Handel. Mr. Morris Wolfson, concert master of the orchestra and violin soloist will play the Finale of Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Minor for Violin and Orchestra".

BELMONT

The pupils of the Belmont Senior High School are eagerly awaiting the State Symphony Orchestra with Alexander Thiede conducting at the school on Friday, February 3rd at 2.30 P.M. This concert is one of a series of music appreciation programs being given by school authorities.

THIS WEEK...

District Notes

DISTRICT ONE

From the Peabody Enterprise "At the High School assembly yesterday, the WPA band (Salem Federal Band) under the leadership of Bartlett Lyons, presented a program of interesting, instructive and cultural music.

Although popular selections were not rendered, the enthusiasm expressed at the completion of each number indicates pupils still love music which maintains its appeal not for a few, but for many years.

The additional value of this type of program is inestimable, and the services of this band, for this reason alone, will be secured for the benefit of the pupils whenever possible."

DISTRICT TWO

A near capacity audience greeted the first of a series of appreciation of music concerts at Quincy High School by the State Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Thiede conducting, last week. These series by the State Symphony have become an outstanding feature of the work of the Music Project and have attracted a great deal of favorable comment from school superintendents and music supervisors.

DISTRICT THREE

Students at Jamaica Plain High School will have an opportunity of hearing the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Earl Weidner, Tuesday, January 31, in the high school auditorium

DISTRICT FOUR

The Brockton Federal Band, Arthur S. Kendrew conducting presents a program at Marshfield High School, Wednesday, February 1.

The Bristol County Federal Band, John B. Nelson, conducting, has been scheduled for Fairhaven High School, Thursday, February 2.

DISTRICT SIX

Agawam High School will be the scene of a concert by the Hampden County Federal Band, Ralph J. Finch, conducting, Wednesday, February 3.

State Director William Haddon of the Music Project, will address the Rotary Club of Webster, at the Joselin House, Monday noon, January 30, the Kiwanis Club of Marlboro at Wildwood Inn, Tuesday noon, January 31 and the Y's Men's Club of the Lynn Y. M. C. A. Thursday Evening, January 2, at 8:15.

THIS WEEK

Somerville is our "honor city" this week.

One of Boston's leading suburbs, Somerville, although geographically a part of Charlestown until 1842, nevertheless, has had an independent history.

Settled by members of the Massachusetts Colony in the early sixteen hundreds, Somerville has a typical New England background and followed the colonial tradition of "first a church and then a school".

Prominent among the settlers was John Winthrop, first governor of the Massachusetts Colony. Governor Winthrop was proprietor of Ten Hills Farm, and among his many other activities built the first ship launched in the new colony, the "Blessings of the Bay", forerunner of an illustrious line of New England ships and shipbuilders.

Another "first" of which Somerville is proud, is its Civil War Memorial.

Tufts College, first Universalist College in the world, although its buildings are in the neighboring city of Medford has a majority of its landed property in Somerville, gifts of the Tufts family.

Sam Walter Foss, New England poet, whose "House by the Side of the Road" is an American classic, was librarian at the Public Library for many years.

The picture on our cover is one of the shrines of American History. "Powder House" a cylindrical field stone structure about 40 feet in heighth nearly became the starting point of the American Revolution. In September 1774, several months before Lexington, General Gage seized a large supply of powder which the colonists had stored there. This led to a mass meeting of several thousands on Cambridge Common who were all for fighting then and there.

But the time was not yet ripe and cooler heads prevailed on them to postpone the clash.

Somerville, while definitely residential also is prominent industrially, ranking well with cities of its size.

THIS WEEK_____

Lynn is our "honor city" this week. Lynn was settled in 1629 by colonists from King's Lynn, England thereby acquiring its name which was spelled at one time "Lin".

Since 1635 when Phillip Kirtland and Edmund Bridges, shoemakers, were attracted to Lynn by the presence of Ingall's Tannery the fame of Lynn as a shoe center has been world wide. Lynn has been particularly noted for its craftsmen, whose skill has been such as to keep them in demand despite the advent of machines or economic difficulties. Last year, for example, the shoe industry did a reported business of $9,000,000.

While shoes and leather have been most prominent in Lynn the largest single industry is the General Electric Company with its two plants. It is due to the world-renowned engineers of the General Electric that Lynn owes its splendid street lighting system, for the engineers have used their home city as a practical laboratory for experimenting with their products.

Lynn boasts of 286 manufactories turning out 212 different products.

Always in the foreground with recreational facilities, Lynn has the largest park within city limits of any city in the country, the 2,000-acre Lynn Woods, and 18 well-staffed playgrounds. Manning Bowl, most recent addition seats 19,000 and was the scene of a series of concerts by the Federal Music Project last summer.

Its beautiful beaches attract thousands of summer visitors each year. High Rock, a promontory 275 feet in height surmounted by an 85-foot observation tower commands a view of Massachusetts Bay and the State House in Boston.

Mary Baker Eddy compiled her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" while a resident of Lynn

Pictured on our front cover is Classical High School, an outstanding part of Lynn's fine educational system, and where frequently concerts are presented by the Federal Music Project

THIS WEEK

Andover is our "honor city" this week.

Andover was settled in 1642, incorporated in 1646. The territory was known by Indians as Cochichewick and purchased by the General Court for six pounds and a coat.

Andover has always been known as a seat of learning. Even in earliest times it boasted a poet. Anne Bradstreet, wife of the colonial governor, was well-known for her writings.

Phillips Andover Academy, oldest incorporated school in the country was founded by Samuel Phillips in 1778. Later the Phillips family, together with others, founded Andover Theological Seminary, now located in Cambridge.

Abbot Academy, established in 1829, was the first girls' school incorporated in New England.

Pictured on our cover is the house where Samuel F. Smith at the age of 24 wrote the immortal words of "America" in 1832.

BOSTON

"Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana", concert form, by the Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting, at Emmanuel College Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, February 19, three o'clock.

THIS WEEK

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

From the Lawrence Tribune: "Another highly entertaining concert was given last evening in Turn Hall by the Essex County Federal Orchestra and Saxophone Sextet, the former led by Mario Carmosino and the latter by Perley Stevens."

DISTRICT TWO

The Everett Federal Orchestra, Vincent DeNunzio conducting, will present the weekly program at the Home for Aged, Concord Avenue, Cambridge, Tuesday afternoon, February 21, at two o'clock.

DISTRICT THREE

From the Christian Science Monitor anent the recent Composers' Forum-Laboratory meeting: "Mr. Gebhard has been recognized for some time as one of Boston's most talented pianists. His work as composer is perhaps less known, but his offerings last night revealed a writer with a sense of humor flowing from a facile pen..... His works were admirably performed and brought enthusiastic applause from an audience which packed the hall to the doors and occupied all available standing room. G.M.S."

DISTRICT FOUR

Bristol County Federal Band, John B. Nelson conducting, has been scheduled for a concert Washington's Birthday afternoon at 1.30 at the State Armory, Pleasant Street, New Bedford.

DISTRICT FIVE

The Worcester Federal Band, Ernest Walford conducting, will be heard at the East Park Community House, Shrewsbury Street, Worcester, Wednesday afternoon, (Washington's Birthday) at 1.15 P.M.

THIS WEEK

Bourne is our "honor city" this week. Known originally as the village of Monument in the town of Sandwich, the name was changed to Bourne after its most prominent citizen, Jonathan Bourne.

Although now Bourne's principal industries are cranberrying, dairying, and summer visitors, at one time it was well known for the manufacture of freight cars. During the World War, a number of the "Forty and Eight" cars of unpleasant recollection were constructed here. The Freight Car Shops were dismantled in widening the Cape Cod Canal.

Gray Gables Inn was the summer White House during President Grover Cleveland's administration.

The Bourne Bridge pictured on our cover was completed in 1935. This splendid continuous truss structure cost one and one-half millions of dollars, and has a 135-foot clearance at the span, and serves as a vantage point for the countless witnesses of the evening spectacle of the "New York Boat" passing through.

The Cape Cod Canal, eight miles long, 32-feet deep, and 500-feet wide, connects Cape Cod Bay and Buzzard's Bay. As early as 1697 the General Court investigated the possibilities of this canal. It was not until 1909, however, that the canal construction actually started. The Boston, Cape Cod and New York Canal Company were the builders, and the canal was opened in 1914. In 1927 it was purchased by the Federal Government.

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

From a recent issue of the Lawrence Tribune: "An event that will stand high in the local musical history took place in Turn Hall last evening when Gounod's opera "Faust" was presented before a large audience.....as in the earlier performance of Bizet's "Carmen" chief honors should go to the orchestra and chorus.....no such vocal or instrumental ensemble, except the almost forgotten performances by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Under Mr. Bodge's scholarly and incisive direction the 80-year old work fell gratefully on the ears. From the opening chord of the prelude to the final apotheosis, Gounod's finely contrasted scoring was studiously followed.....in the scenes where the Chorus was required, the music had lightness and intensity as required. The Male voices in the familiar "Soldiers' Chorus" rang out with vigor and telling effects, while the final chanting completed an evening that should linger long and fondly in the memory....." A.L.M.

THIS WEEK

Waltham is our "honor city" this week.

This thriving industrial suburb of Boston which despite its comparatively small population, 40,557, boasts of more than one hundred diverse industries including the famous "Watch Factory", the world's largest watch manufacturing plant.

Present Waltham was the West Precinct of Watertown until 1738 when it was granted a separate government. It was incorporated a city in 1884.

The name Waltham is from an old English town of the same name and is derived from "Walt" meaning forest or wood, and "Ham", a dwelling or home, literally forest home.

In 1813 the Boston Manufacturing Company came into existence, the first factory in America to complete the entire process of turning raw cotton into cloth under one roof.

In 1854, Aaron L. Dennison, the "father of the watch industry in America", moved from Roxbury to Waltham and there founded the American Waltham Watch Company, makers of the first machine made watches in the United States, an industry that was destined to spread the name and fame of Waltham to the four corners of the earth.

Among Waltham's famous sons two names stand out. Christopher Gore, appointed by President Washington the first United States Attorney for Massachusetts and later a Commissioner to England and Governor of the State; Gore Hall at Harvard University, since superseded by the Widener Library was built with funds he left the school, and Major General Nathaniel P. Banks, member of Congress, speaker of the House and Governor of Massachusetts.

THIS WEEK

BRIDGEWATER is our "honor city" this week.

Bridgewater was settled in 1650, and incorporated as a town six years later. The territory was purchased from Massasoit by colonists from Duxbury, and embraced a great deal more than the present confines of the town. The present towns of East and West Bridgewater, Abington, the City of Brockton, and several others were included in the original grant. It was the first inland town in the colony.

The name Bridgewater was derived from a town of the same name in Somersetshire in southwestern England, the home of some of the original settlers.

Considerable iron was manufactured in Bridgewater during the last century, and machinery for cotton gins. These industries were gradually replaced by the shoe and leather factories for which this section of the State is noted.

Unlike most towns which erected statues as Civil War Memorials, Bridgewater dedicated its Library as a living memorial to its sons who fought in the Union ranks. In 1840, Bridgewater Normal School, now known as State Teachers College, was founded, one of three which were experimentally established in the country. Its sons and daughters have very definitely made themselves known in the field of education.

THIS WEEK

CAMBRIDGE is our "honor city" this week.

Cambridge was settled in 1630, and incorporated as a town in 1636. First known as Newtowne, the establishment of Harvard College caused the changing of the name by the Great and General Court to Cambridge, after the famous English University City. In the year 1846, it became a city.

Cambridge played a prominent part in the American Revolution, being the headquarters of the Continental Army during the siege of Boston, and the place where Washington took command of the first American army.

To most, Cambridge is known for its colleges, Harvard, Radcliffe, Technology, and numerous secondary schools, but Cambridge also occupies a very definite place in the industrial world, second in Massachusetts only to Boston in the number of manufactories, and third in New England. Among its many products are ink, machinery, glass, rubber, food, soap, lighting fixtures, and printing plants. Incidentally, the first printing press in America was set up at Harvard College.

The fame of a city often rests on the fame of two or three of its inhabitants, but to name Cambridge citizens who have achieved distinction in the world of arts and letters, commerce and industry, would be like calling the roll of "Who's Who in America".

SPRINGFIELD

The Springfield Federal Orchestra, Milton J. Aronson conducting, will present a program at Turn Hall, 91 Plainfield Street, Sunday afternoon, March 26, at 3.30 o'clock. This concert was originally scheduled for March 12, but due to inclement weather conditions it was postponed. It is being sponsored by the Springfield Turnverein Inc.

CAMBRIDGE

State Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Thiede conducting, will be heard at Rindge Technical High School, Tuesday afternoon, March 28, at 2.30 o'clock.

MIDDLETON

The Salem Federal Band, Bartlett Lyons conducting will appear at Howe Manning School, Tuesday evening, March 28, at 8 o'clock.

BOSTON

The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, Peter T. Bodge conducting offers "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" at Michelangelo School, Wednesday evening, March 29. The operas are being sponsored by the Michelangelo School Center.

THIS WEEK

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

The Salem Federal Band, Bartlett Lyons conducting, will present a program at the Swampscott High School, Wednesday morning, March 29, and at Breed Junior High School, Thursday morning, March 30.

DISTRICT TWO

From the News Tribune, Waltham, Massachusetts, following a concert by the State Symphony Orchestra, at the High School: "The rapt faces of the audience and their resounding applause after Morris Wolfson played the solo part of Felix Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor for Violin and Orchestra, attested to the fact that youth likes strings as well as the muted trumpet".

DISTRICT THREE

The Boston Federal Trio will be heard at the Boylston Branch Library Jamaica Plain, Monday evening, March 27.

The Trimount Federal Orchestra, Richard Cosby conducting, Tuesday evening, March 28, at the Williams Municipal Building.

The County Federal Orchestra, Osgood Marcellus conducting, Joseph Barnes School, East Boston, on Wednesday evening, March 29.

The Trimount Federal Orchestra, Richard Cosby conducting, at the North End Union, Boston, Thursday evening, March 30.

The Beacon Federal Orchestra, William Dolan conducting, Roxbury School Center, Roxbury, on Friday evening, March 31.

DISTRICT FOUR

The Bristol County Federal Band, John B. Nelson conducting, at the New Bedford High School, Friday, March 31.

The Brockton Federal Band, Arthur S. Kendrew conducting, at East Bridgewater High School Wednesday noon, March 29.

DISTRICT FIVE

The Fitchburg Federal Orchestra, Tenho William Reivo conducting, at Fitchburg High School, March 26.

The Worcester Federal Band, Ernest Walford conducting, at Odd Fellows Home, Thursday, March 30.

DISTRICT SIX

The Chicopee Federal Orchestra, Delore Peloquin conducting, at Forest Park School, Wednesday evening, March 29, and the Chester Blandford CCC Camp in Chester, Tuesday evening, March 28.

State Director William Haddon will be guest speaker at the Quincy Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce Hall, Power and Light Building, at noon, March 27; and the Lions Club, Gloucester at the Hotel Savoy on March 28 at six o'clock.

THIS WEEK

CHICOPEE is our "honor city" this week.

Settled in 1652, originally a part of Springfield, by 1848 the district known as Cabotville had become so populated that it was incorporated as a town under the name Chicopee. In 1890, it became a city.

Situated on the Connecticut River, directly across from Holyoke, and bisected by the Chicopee River, Chicopee's future was foreordained. The waterpower attracted factories. This city has been an industrial center almost since birth.

Chicopee lays claim to being the place where the friction match was invented. The Ames family, who manufactured edged tools and cutlery were the first American artisans to fashion swords, weapons which previously our Army and Navy were forced to import from Europe. The second largest rubber plant in the world is located here.

The City Hall, which is pictured on our front cover is in Italian Gothic style, and was erected in 1871. The architect was Charles Edward Parker.

LAWRENCE

The Essex County Federal Orchestra, Mario Carmosino conducting, will offer another of its popular concerts at Turn Hall, Sunday evening, April 2, at 7.30 P.M. Mr. Abram Bernard, violinist from Boston, will be guest soloist with the orchestra.

FOR the first quarter of 1939, the Federal Music Project of Massachusetts has presented 81 sponsored concerts, nearly double last year's mark of 42 for the same period.

State Symphony Orchestra concerts in series of three, were presented in high schools in Greater Boston, Dorchester, Watertown, Hyde Park, Somerville, Quincy, North Quincy, Belmont, Roslindale, and Waltham, to name some.

Operas were presented by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus in Whitman, Lynn, Arlington, Emmanuel College, Boston; Norwood, and Michelangelo School, Boston.

The Fall River Federal Orchestra played at North Dartmouth; The Worcester Federal Orchestra at Webster, Clinton and West Boylston; The Springfield Federal Orchestra at Technical High School, Springfield, Turner Falls, Greenfield and Wilbraham.

State Director William Haddon will, be guest speaker at the Stafford Post Ladies Auxiliary in Legion Hall, Fall River on April 3 at 8.00 P.M.; the Rotary Club meeting at the Hub Restaurant, Easthampton on April 4 at 6.10 P.M.; and the Kiwanis Club meeting, at the Park Square Hotel, Westfield, April 16 at 6.00 PM.

DISTRICT FOUR

From the Brockton Enterprise of a recent date: "Eight rich voices were woven into a musical pattern Tuesday morning, when the Madrigal Singers of the Federal Music Project presented a concert conducted by Earl Weidner, and sponsored by the Lecture Fund Committee of the College (State Teachers College, Bridgewater). During the entire performance the large audience of pupils, faculty, and townspeople responded with genuine enthusiasm.....genuine charm of the Federal Singers lay in their power to interpret the selections with exquisite sweetness and thrilling intensity depending on the mood of the piece. Earl Weidner conducted with skill and offered interesting comments on the compositions."

THIS WEEK

Boston was settled in 1625 by John Winthrop and a company of colonists. In 1630 it became a town and in 1822 a city. Boston since earliest times has enjoyed a unique position among the cities of the country as its various nicknames suggest, "Hub of the Universe", "Athens of America", etc.

The history of Boston is closely linked with the history of the country. The city supplied many of the Colonial leaders. In the fields of business and finance, Boston and Bostonians have always been to the forefront. The Public Latin School established in 1635 paved the way for universal education in the United States.

The famed clipper ships, envy of the world, sailing from Boston's natural harbor, did much to speed the growth of the young nation. Today, Boston points with pride to its Municipal Airport. Although its historic sites, museums, etc. attract thousands of visitors, Boston is decidedly not living in the past. It has kept pace with the trend and is in every way a modern metropolis.

BOSTON
As part of its appreciation of music program, the Museum of Fine Arts, Huntington Avenue is sponsoring The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting, in a presentation of Cesar Franck's "The Beatitudes", Sunday afternoon, April 16 at 2.30 o'clock.

NORWOOD
The final concert of a series will be given by the Federal Sinfonietta, Edward Rosenwald conducting, under the sponsorship of Orient Lodge, A.F. & A.M. at the Masonic Temple, Day Street, Sunday afternoon, April 16 at 3.30 o'clock.

SOMERVILLE
The State Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Thiede conducting, will be heard in the third concert of a music appreciation series in the Western Jr. High School Auditorium, Holland Street, on Monday afternoon, April 17 at 1.00 o'clock.

WATERTOWN
"Faust" in concert form will be presented by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, Peter T. Bodge conducting, at the High School Auditoirum on April 17 at 8.15 o'clock. The concert is being sponsored by the Teachers' Association.

LYNN

THIS WEEK

AMHERST is our "honor city" this week.

Originally a part of Hadley, settled in 1703, it was incorporated as a town in 1775. Amherst was named after Lord Jeffrey Amherst, a "soldier of the king" a British general in the French and Indian Wars.

Amherst is a typical New England college town, the site of Amherst College, established in 1821 and Massachusetts Agricultural College, now Massachusetts State College, established in 1864. Among other things State College is widely known for its Science Museum.

Amherst was the home of Helen Hunt Jackson, who wrote under the pseudonym H.H.; and of Emily Dickinson, one of the great American Poets and acclaimed by many as one of the greatest women poets of all time.

AMHERST

The Springfield Federal Orchestra, Armand Balendonck conducting, will present a concert at Stockbridge Hall, Massachusetts State College, Monday, April 24, at 8.30 P.M. in conjunction with the First Annual Music Festival at The College.

ROXBURY

The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts (State Symphony Orchestra), Alexander Thiede conducting, will be heard in the final concert of the series Thursday afternoon, April 27, at 2.30 .

NEWTON

"Rigoletto" in concert form will be presented by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting at Boston College Auditorium, Thursday afternoon, April 27, at 3.15.

RANDOLPH

The Modern Rhythm Ensemble, Frank Ward conducting, and The Federal Southland Singers, Lycurgus Lockman conducting will present a concert in the Town Hall, Friday evening, April 28. The concert is sponsored by the Stetson High School.

ARLINGTON

The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting, will present "Rigoletto" in concert form in the Town Hall, Friday evening, April 28 under the sponsorship of the Arlington American Legion Band, Post #39.

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

The Federal Band of Merrimac Valley, Paul T. Giles conducting, will present a program at the Moody School, Haverhill, Tuesday afternoon, April 25.

The Salem Federal Band, Bartlett L. Lyons conducting is scheduled for a performance at the Farnsworth School, Peabody, Wednesday afternoon, April 26.

DISTRICT TWO

The Quincy Federal Orchestra, Henry Mazzola conducting, will present a program at the Pond Street School, South Weymouth, Monday morning, April 24.

The Somerville Federal Orchestra, Murray Hochberg conducting, will present a program at the Home for Aged, Cambridge, Tuesday afternoon, April 25.

DISTRICT THREE

From the Boston Transcript following an appearance by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus: "An audience filled the Tapestry Gallery to capacity in the Museum of Fine Arts yesterday afternoon to listen to "The Beatitudes" by Cesar Franck.....Judging from the apparent enthusiasm demonstrated by those present, a two-hour performance with the entire eight Beatitudes played would be welcomed by Bostonians.

DISTRICT FOUR

The Brockton Federal Band, Arthur S. Kendrw conducting, will be heard at Abington High School, Wednesday morning, April 26.

The Fall River Federal Orchestra, C. Thomas Jones conducting, will present a program at the Ruggles School, Fall River, Wednesday afternoon, April 26.

DISTRICT FIVE

From the Weekly News of the Fitchburg Rotary Club: "Sincere thanks to William Haddon. After listening to his thoughtful and timely presentation of the Federal Music Project, we are impressed with the worth of that part of the WPA program as a conserver of much that is fine in the cultural life of America."

DISTRICT SIX

From the Springfield Union by Willard M. Clark: "The Westfield Woman's Club must have been gratified at the large and socially distinguished audience which attended the concert by the Springfield Federal Orchestra tonight in the Club, for it was the first time they had sponsored such an event....Mr. Aronson provided an excellent reading of the Mozart Symphony stressing its simplicity and unassuming character yet keeping up interest through his well-planned tempi. The Overture was played with appreciation of its character and with full bodied tone."

From the Greenfield Recorder: "The WPA Music Project is the finest thing that has happened to this musically untutored land' Miss Marion DeRonde of the Smith College Music Faculty stated in speaking of the development of modern music ...'The WPA Music Project has a three-fold value', she said. 'It pays the performers, it makes good music available to many people at a small fee, and it gives the American composer a chance for his works to be heard'".

William Haddon, State Director, will be guest speaker at the Agawam High School April 26, at 9.00 A. M.; and the West Springfield High School, April 26, at 10.00 A.M.

THIS WEEK

EVERETT is our "honor city" this week. Settled in 1649, known as South Malden, in 1870 it became a town, and called Everett in honor of the illustrious Edward Everett. In the year 1892 it was incorporated as a city.

The early history of Everett is closely linked with that of Malden and Charlestown. Mainly agricultural until the beginning of the Newburyport Turnpike, and since that time almost entirely an industrial city. More than 100 industries flourish in Everett including the manufacture of chemicals, iron, coke, and many others. Everett also possesses a busy waterfront.

Nearly 50 concerts were presented in Everett schools by Federal Music Project units during the last twelve months to a total audience of almost thirty thousand. One concert alone at the High School Stadium drew nearly 4000 persons. Outdoor concerts at Glendale Park were a regular feature. The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts(State Symphony) presented a highly successful appreciation of music series at the High School.

Pictured on our cover is the Frederick E. Parlin Library. The land on which it stands was originally the Parlin Homestead and was donated together with a large sum of money by Albert N. Parlin in memory of whose son the building is named.

EVERETT

The Everett High School is sponsoring a concert on May 4 by The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts (State Symphony), Alexander Thiede conducting. The concert will begin at 8.15 P.M.

SOUTH BOSTON

The Ladies Aid Society is sponsoring a concert performance of "Faust" by the Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, Peter T. Bodge conducting, at the High School Auditorium on May 5, at 8.00 P.M.

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

The Federal Band of Merrimac Valley, Paul T. Giles conducting, will present two concerts at Lowell High School Auditorium, Tuesday evening, May 2, and Wednesday evening, May 3. An exhibit of the work done by the Recreation Projects will be held in conjunction with the concerts.

DISTRICT TWO

From the Norwood Messenger: "There was a time when Norwood people rather looked down their noses at Federal Music Projects. That time is over. The concerts given by the Teachers' and Women's Clubs in Junior High School were outstanding examples of the really magnificent work this group is doing. The capstone was put on the Federal Music Project plan in the three splendid Sinfoniettas, the Orient Lodge has already sponsored at Masonic Temple. Federal Music has 'arrived' as far as this town is concerned."

DISTRICT THREE

The Trimount Federal Orchestra, Richard Cosby conducting, will present the weekly concert at the Y.M.C.A., City Sq., Charlestown, on Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 3.00 o'clock.

The Yiddish Federal Orchestra, Charles Rosen conducting, will be heard in a concert at the Ritz Plaza, 218 Huntington Avenue, Boston on Monday evening, at 8.15 o'clock.

The County Federal Orchestra, Osgood Marcellus conducting, will offer a program at the Everett School, Northampton Street, Boston on Friday evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

DISTRICT FOUR

The Bristol County Federal Band, John B. Nelson conducting will present a program at the Roosevelt Jr. High School, Frederick St., New Bedford on Wednesday, May 3.

The Brockton Federal Band, Arthur S. Kendrew conducting, will offer a program at the Gilmore School, Spring Avenue, Brockton, Friday, May 5.

DISTRICT FIVE

The Worcester Federal Band, Ernest Walford conducting, will be at the Odd Fellows Home, Randolph Road, Worcester on Wednesday, May 3, at 1.45 o'clock.

The pupils of the Heard Street School will hear The Worcester Federal Orchestra, J. Earl Bley conducting on Thursday, May 4.

DISTRICT SIX

From the Springfield Daily Republican: "The W.P.A. Music Projects were given praise here today by Milton L. Fuller of Gloucester, Principal of the Collins School, in his informal talk with District 9 of the principals of elementary schools. In discussing the various types of school assemblies Fuller said that the 'WPA emphasis upon music is a good thing for school assemblies, and we could use more of the W.P.A. music concerts.'"

William Haddon, State Director, will address the Rotary Club, Middle Street, East Weymouth on May 1, at 6.15 P.M.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK it is with pardonable pride we dedicate our weekly bulletin to our National Director, Dr. Nikolai Sokoloff. Dr. Sokoloff has just been awarded the 1939 Henry Hadley Medal of the National Association for American Composers and Conductors. The medal instituted as a memorial to the founder of the Associations, is awarded to the individual who has made the greatest contribution to the cause of American music within the year. It will be presented on Friday, May 12, in the Grand Central Art Galleries, New York City, by Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, Chairman of the Association. The citation accompanying the medal emphasizes Dr. Sokoloff's "tremendous interest in and appreciation for American creative works and musicians".

Dr. Nikolai Sokoloff has been Director of the Federal Music Project since its inception in November, 1935. Nikolai Sokoloff was born in Kieff, Russia. His people had been professional musicians for generations in symphony orchestras, theatres, and opera houses. At the age of five, he began the study of the violin with his father, Gregory Sokoloff. He was 14 when his family came to America and located in New Haven, Connecticut. At that time he had already five years' experience with symphony and concert orchestras, of which his father had been conductor. Within a year he had been awarded a special scholarship for violin study at the famous Yale University School of Music. While attending the School of Music, the young Sokoloff played with the New Haven Symphony Orchestra, the University Student Orchestra, and found time to instruct a class of children.

At 16, he was engaged to play in the First Violin section of the Boston Symphony Orchestra under William Goericke. Franz Kneisel was concert master. Beside Kneisel at the first stand was Charles Martin Loeffler.

Since then Dr. Sokoloff has won for himself an outstanding reputation both here and abroad as musician and conductor. As conductor of the San Francisco Philharmonic he was first among orchestra leaders to admit women to his organization. For fifteen years as Music Director and Conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra he was foremost in presenting premiere performances of native composers. As guest conductor with the London Symphony Orchestra and National Eisteddfod in Wales, he won acclamation from British critics.

Since becoming National Director of the Federal Music Project, Dr. Sokoloff has expended every effort to encourage American musicians and composers. Under his direction more than six thousand compositions of American origin have been given public performances by Federal Music Project units. The staggering total of 130,133,892 persons have heard the 197,554 performances by Project organizations during the past twelve months.

ORANGE

The Springfield Federal Orchestra will present two concerts, one at Town Hall at 4 o'clock for children, and an evening program at 8 o'clock in the High School Auditorium, on May 9, under the sponsorship of the Orange Teachers' Club. The afternoon concert will be conducted by Milton J. Aronson; the evening, by Armand Balendonck.

GEORGETOWN

Perley High School is sponsoring an appearance of the Federal Band of Merrimac Valley, Paul T. Giles conducting at the High School Auditorium, Wednesday evening, May 10.

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

From the Lynn Item: "A concert was presented in the Gymnasium (St. Mary's High School) Friday afternoon to the boys of the High School by the Essex County Federal Orchestra...earlier in the year the Essex County Federal Band entertained the Boys High School, and the faculty, and students both extend their thanks to those who made such fine entertainment possible".

The Salem Federal Band, Bartlett Lyons conducting will appear at Topsfield Town Hall in conjunction with a Boy Scout Rally by Troop 1, of Topsfield, Tuesday evening, May 9.

DISTRICT TWO

The Quincy Federal Orchestra, Henry Mazzola conducting, is scheduled for Ames Junior High School, Dedham, Wednesday morning, May 10.

The Everett Federal Orchestra, Vincent DeNunzio conducting will play at the Houghton School, Thursday afternoon, May 11.

DISTRICT THREE

The final meeting of the Composers' Forum-Laboratory will be held at Faelton Hall, 30 Huntington Avenue, on Friday evening, May 12 at 8.15 punctually. Artists on the program include Hazel Hallett, Esther Miller, Edith Smalley, Earl Weidner, and William Pedersen, pianists; Stanley Benson, violinist; Winifred Olson, cellist; and Jeska Stone, contralto, and George Wheeler, tenor; and the Boston Federal Madrigal Singers and the Boston Federal Trio. These artists will present the works of John Knowles Paine (1839-1906), and the contemporary composers Eda Rapoport, and Charles Repper.

DISTRICT FOUR

From the Brockton Enterprise's Randolph column: "The combined concert by the Modern Rhythm Orchestra and the Southland Singers, two of the most popular units of the Federal Music Project provided a rare musical treat for the music lovers of this town last night in Stetson Hall. .....Both units were warmly applauded and the concert was a decided success".

DISTRICT FIVE

The Fitchburg Federal Orchestra, Tenho William Reivo conducting is scheduled for Lunenberg High School, Wednesday, May 10.

DISTRICT SIX

The Hampden County Federal Band, Ralph J. Finch conducting, will present a program at Chicopee Trade School, Tuesday, May 9.

State Director William Haddon will be guest speaker at the Norwood Club, Verne Inn, Vernon Street, on May 8, at 6.15 P.M.; the Milford Rotary Club, Guest House, at 6.15 P.M. on May 9; and the Becker College of Business Administration, Assembly Hall, 69 Mechanics St., Worcester on May 11, at 9.20 in the morning, the Marlboro Rotary Club, Wildwood Inn, at 12.15.

The Teaching Division has recently opened new classes for piano pupils in Framingham, Quincy, Everett, Brockton, New Bedford and Waltham. Instruction is limited to those unable to afford a private teacher, or whose parents are on Welfare rolls or on W.P.A. Applications and further details may be obtained from William Haddon, State Director, Federal Music Project, 25 Huntington Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts.

THIS WEEK

DANVERS is our honor city this week. Settled in 1636 and known as Salem Village until incorporated under the name Danvers in 1757.

Danvers is a typical New England community. Today largely residential with few industries, it was in the early days of the Republic more industrial.But following the Civil War, its manufactories, in common with many small New England communities, lapsed. The witchcraft hysteria which afflicted this section of the colonies in the early days was rampant in Danvers for a brief period. The historic covered-wagon train which traveled into the then unknown West of 1787 to Marietta, Ohio had many Danvers citizens in its party.

Among its famous citizens, the name of Israel Putnam stands out. Putnam, who left his plow in the field to answer Freedom's call and whose inspiring words at Bunker Hill--"Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes", still remain true as a guide to everyday conduct. The State Hospital for the Insane, an institution with world-wide reputation is located here.

Pictured on our front cover by a staff artist is Peabody Institute, named in honor of George Peabody, whose bequests totaling nearly $100,000 made the building which houses the Library and Auditorium possible. George Peabody died in London and was buried in Westminster Abbey. Later his remains were removed to Peabody, which first had been called South Danvers. A tablet in the famous London Church, still commemorates Peabody.

THIS WEEK

GLOUCESTER is our "honor city" this week.

In 1623, a party of farmers and fishermen from Dorchester, England settled on Cape Ann, and founded the Massachusetts Bay Colony. By 1642, the Colony had grown large enough to incorporate as a town, taking the name Gloucester from the English city where a number of the newer arrivals had lived. In 1873, Gloucester became a city. Gloucester and fishing are traditional, for at Gloucester was born the oldest industry in the Commonwealth--fishing.

In Stage Fort Park, a tablet on a boulder commemorates an outstanding event, not only in Gloucester history, but which was indicative of future practices in the country, the scene where arbitration was first used to settle a dispute--between the men of Plymouth and the citizens of the Bay Colony.

This section is also well known for its granite quarries.

The story of Gloucester and the story of its hardy sons, who year in and year out have gone to the treacherous Grand Banks of Newfoundland to wrest a precarious living from the most dangerous waters in the world, is aptly summed up on the pedestal of Leonard Craske's statue, "The Gloucester Fisherman", which is pictured on our front cover, "They That Go Down To The Sea In Ships".

NORTON

The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra, Peter T. Bodge conducting, will present a concert at the Wheaton College Chapel Auditorium, Sunday evening, May 21, at 8 o'clock.

GLOUCESTER

The Federal Symphony Orchestra (State Symphony) Alexander Thiede conducting, will offer a symphonic program at the City Hall on Monday evening, May 22, at 8.00 o'clock.

LYNN

"Rigoletto" in concert form will be given at Lynn English High School Auditorium, Wednesday afternoon, May 24, at 1.30 o'clock by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting.

BRIMFIELD

The Allied Organizations of Brimfield are sponsoring two concerts by The Springfield Federal Orchestra, one for the children in the afternoon, and a second performance in the evening for adults, to be given at the Town Hall on May 25. Milton J. Aronson will conduct the concert.

BROCKTON

The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus will present two operas at the City Theatre, Thursday and Friday evenings under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club. "Faust" with Peter T. Bodge conducting will be offered on Thursday evening, and "Rigoletto", A. Buckingham Simson conducting on Friday evening.

THIS WEEK

DEDHAM is our "honor city" this week.

Dedham was founded in 1636 following a petition to the Great and General Court by a group from Watertown who first wished to call the town "Contentment". The site was admirably suited for agriculture and it followed, naturally, that early manufacturing efforts were limited to corn and sawmills; for it was not until the early 1800's, following the invention of the cotton gin that factories were erected to take advantage of the waterpower of the Charles, and soon Dedham boasted of woolen, cotton, and paper mills, together with several smaller industries.

John Eliot the apostle to the Indians, built his Indian Church here, in what is now South Natick.

Pictured on our front cover is the famous Fairbanks House, since 1636 the homestead of the Fairbanks family, the oldest house in Dedham and an outstanding example of early colonial architecture. It has remained in the possession of the Fairbanks family to this day and annually the lineal descendants of Jonathan Fairbanks meet there.

Dedham has been shire town for Norfolk County since the county's organization in 1793.

DEDHAM

The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting, will present "Rigoletto" in concert form at the Dedham High School Auditorium, Wednesday evening, May 31. This concert is sponsored by the Dedham High School Alumni and Teachers Associations.

NORTH ANDOVER

The Junior Units of American Legion, Post #219 will sponsor a combined concert by The Federal Sinfonietta, Edward Rosenwald conducting and The Federal Southland Singers, Lycurgus Lockman conducting, Friday evening, June 2 in Stevens Hall, North Andover High School.

The Teaching Division of the Project will open classes for Piano Pupils at Randolph, East Milton, Allston; Violin Pupils in Lowell; Piano, Violin, and Voice in Worcester. Information and applications for instruction may be obtained by writing to William Haddon, State Director, 25 Huntington Avenue, Boston.

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

From the Salem News: "The Danvers Music Appreciation Society is to be highly complimented on bringing to Danvers last evening The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts. The 70 musicians under their capable and personable director, Alexander Thiede stirred the enthusiastic audience and responded appreciatively to the well-deserved applause.

From the Lawrence Eagle: "An enthusiastic and appreciative audience enjoyed the symphony concert Thursday evening, presented by The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts under the sponsorship of the Danvers Music Appreciation Society.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK we honor John J. McDonough, State Administrator of Massachusetts and Regional Director of the New England States for the Works Progress Administration.

Colonel McDonough, as he is more familiarly known, is peculiarly suited for the difficult and arduous task of directing the far-flung and multiple activities of the Works Progress Administration throughout the six New England States.

A background of more than twenty-five years as a City, State and Government Official, an outstanding authority on labor problems, a lawyer who also holds a Masters Degree he possesses a solid foundation that enables him to shoulder his numerous responsibilities with ease.

His military record is typical of the man. In 1914, he served as a private with the United States Army on the Mexican Border. At the outbreak of the World War, he again enlisted as a private and was honorably discharged at its conclusion as a first Lieutenant. Since then he has attained the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the United States Army, Quartermaster Corps (Reserve).

He served the City of Boston in an administrative capacity in the Construction and Water Departments. For twenty years he was a member of the State Department of Labor and Industry where he rose to the post of Chief Inspector. He headed the State Compliance Department of the NRA and prior to becoming State Administrator of the Works Progress Administration was State Director of the Employment Division.

A keen student of local and international affairs, his knowledge of labor and its problems, and his legal training combine to make Colonel McDonough a popular and efficient executive.

The Brockton Daily Enterprise's editorial writer succinctly sums up the Federal Music Project: "Opera has come to Main Street. Although lacking the sophisticated flash of diamonds and the nervous flare of news camera bulbs, inseparable as pepper and salt with Big Town opera nights, opera in Main Street, from the federal government's cultural nursery, is not without brilliance and musical distinction. Any shortage of "big names" on the stage or out front did not dim it.

"The Kiwanis Club is opera's local sponsor.....Contrary to false impressions, service clubs are not self-service groups; they serve others first, in especial those unable to help themselves. There is no worthier community work than that which Kiwanis does.

"When opera comes to Main Street, and Main Street goes to opera, it is more than a rally for the enjoyment and encouragement of one of the fine arts. Music lovers assist a good cause, advance appreciation of good music, strengthen the city's cultural side.

"The government has been praised often and critized as often for extending its bounty to the arts as well as to the crafts in a time of distress. Except for such help, however, opera could not come to Main Street. The visit is for two nights, this evening's performance the final one, and indications now are that it will be to the advantage of the town, the children and Kiwanis."

THIS WEEK

CHARLESTOWN is our "honor city" this week.

No section of Boston to which Charlestown became annexed in 1874 has played a more important part in the history of our country. The anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill which we commemorate this coming Saturday, June 17, is indicative of this. The Battle was more than simply a victory over the British and did a great deal to bolster the courage and hopes of a new-born nation.

It has truly been said that the "wealth of a town is its citizens" and Charlestown can be justly proud of the long line of illustrious sons who have left their mark in the world.

Three New England Colleges bear names of Charlestown men, Harvard, Tufts and Colby, after Gardner Colby.

John Harvard's remains are interred in the Harvard Burial Grounds in Charlestown. The Statue of John Harvard on the College grounds was presented by another resident of Charlestown, Samuel J. Bridges.

Colonel Loammi Baldwin often called the father of American Civil Engineering who designed the drydocks at the Navy Yard at Charlestown and Norfolk; Samuel Finley Breese Morse inventor of the Electric Telegraph, and who incidentally on returning from Paris where he had met M. Daguerre, constructed the first daguerreotype in this country, the forerunner of modern photography; the Rev. Doctor Morse, the father of Samuel, was author of numerous geographies; Edward Everett was elected to Congress and Governor of Massachusetts while a resident of Charlestown.

Charlestown is the site of the United States Navy Yard established in 1800. The famed U.S. Frigate Constitution "Old Ironsides" is berthed here.

Pictured on our front cover is that famed landmark, The Bunker Hill Monument, at whose dedication on June 17, 1825, the guest of honor was General Lafayette.

Following is an editorial from the Dedham Transcript: "Have you heard the singing of the school children on their way to and from school and recognized the snatches of Rigoletto coming from their lips? Perhaps you've heard the whistled notes of the opera from the puckered lips of some boy whose first opera performance will always be an unforgettable experience to him. If the bringing to Dedham of the opera produced no other profit than what it brought of new musical interest to the boys and girls Mr. Liddell and his assistants deserve much praise for conceiving and carrying out the project. But adults as well as young people enjoyed the opera. With so excellent an opportunity as the Commonwealth Federal Chorus and Orchestra provides, why not see to it that Dedham has its share of this kind of good music?"

THIS WEEK

MALDEN is our "honor city" this week.

Malden was first known as Mystic Side and was a part of the territory of Charlestown. The first settlement was made in 1634.

Malden was incorporated in 1649 and became a city in 1882. The name Malden was derived from the English town of the same name although spelled Maldon, from whence had come Joseph Hill who quickly became the leading citizen of Mystic Side. It was through the influence of Joseph Hill that Mystic Side became a separate township.

Malden men played an active part in the Revolutionary War. One of its sons, Captain Daniel Waters being named by General Washington to command of an armed schooner. He took part in many important naval engagements in Boston Harbor.

The seal of the town of Malden which we picture on our cover features three lions, passant reguardant, the same as the seal of Maldon, England.

For the first two centuries of its existence, the growth of Malden was gradual with few industries being established, but the advent of good roads and railroads together with its proximity to Boston made it more prominent. It also became popular as a residential city for many Boston business men and merchants.

The first Mayor of Malden was Elisha S. Converse. He presented the Memorial Building, in which is housed the Public Library, to the city and also endowed it liberally for books and art treasures.

Alvin T. Fuller who served two terms as Governor of Massachusetts was a resident of Malden

Today Malden is a thriving community with nearly 60,000 persons with numerous and diversified industries.

THIS WEEK

MILTON is our "honor city" this week.

Since earliest colonial times, it has been a favored residential town by Boston business men and merchants.

Although to this day principally residential, Milton has an industrial history of some importance.

The section known as Milton Lower Mills bordering the Neponset River is the site of the first mill run by water power in New England, a grist mill built in 1634.

The first powder mill was estab - lished here a few years later.

In 1765, the first chocolate mill in the country was erected here, later passing into the hands of Dr. James Baker and the mill today, still active, perpetuates the Baker name.

The Lower Mills is also the site of the first paper mill established in the country.

"The Suffolk Resolves" were drawn up following a meeting at the Vose House and carried to Philadelphia by Paul Revere, a prelude to the Declaration of Independence.

The Blue Hills, the highest land near the coast from Maine to Mexico and from which Massachusetts derives its name, are located in Milton.

The Blue Hills Reservation, a tract containing some 4,000 acres is now a public park and forest preserves. On the highest point is located the "Blue Hills Observatory", erected in 1884 by Professor A. Lawrence Rotch of Milton who bequeathed funds for its continuance. It is now connected with Harvard University.

Pictured on our front cover is the replica of the Abraham Lincol n Cabin on the Forbes Estate, Milton. It is an exact reproduction of the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born and has attracted a great number of visitors.

GLOUCESTER

Gloucester City Hall will be the scene of a return engagement by The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts, Alexander Thiede conducting, Monday evening, June 26, at 8.00 o'clock. The Gloucester Lions Club is again sponsoring this concert. Karl Zeise, 'cellist will be guest soloist.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK we celebrate Independence Day--the day that marked not only the beginning of a new country but a new way of living--the American Way.

Equal opportunity for all is the priceless heritage and tradition handed down to us by those hardy individuals who had the courage of their convictions--who risked their life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness that they who came after them might enjoy those blessings.

We owe them a great debt but we owe an even greater debt to those who will follow us--we must preserve and cherish that heritage for future generations, that equal opportunity for all will continue to be the American Way.

We can only insure that heritage by each doing his own share; for equal opportunity also implies equal responsibility and it is only by equal responsibility that we can continue to enjoy the American Way.

THIS WEEK

FRAMINGHAM is our "honor city" this week.

Settled in 1650, it was incorporated as a town in 1700. The first land grant in this region was made about 1640. A number of refugees from the witch-craft trials in Salem Village found haven here.

Principally a farming district until 1800 when mills sprang up along the Sudbury River. Framingham became well-known for its shoe, paper, rubber and carpet factories. The Dennison Paper Manufacturing Company, the principal industry in the town is internationally known for the quality of its products and for the industrial partnership plan among its employees.

The oldest normal school in the country is located here, State Teachers College established in Lexington, 1839, and moved to Framingham in 1853.

For many years the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia had a training ground here.

LYNN

The Lynn Stadium Commission will sponsor a summer series consisting of four concerts at Manning Bowl. July 13, "Rigoletto" (Sung in English) by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson Conducting; July 20, The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts, Alexander Thiede conducting; July 27, The Modern Rhythm Ensemble, Frank E. Ward conducting; August 3, "Faust" (Sung in English) by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, Armand Balendonck conducting. The performances will begin at 8.15 P.M.

THIS WEEK

HAVERHILL is our "honor city" this week.

Settled in 1640 by men from Newburyport and Ipswich, it was incorporated as a town in 1645, and as a city in 1869.

The name Haverhill was selected in honor of the Reverend John Ward, the town's first minister, who came from Haverhill, England.

Haverhill suffered greatly in its early years from Indian raids. In one of the raids, the famed Hannah Dustin was captured. She later escaped by killing her captors.

Haverhill first gave promise as a ship building and shipping center, being engaged in commerce with the South and West Indies; but with the construction of the Chain Bridge at Newburyport in 1811, easy access to the ocean was cut off. However, the versatile Haverhill merchants turned their attention to harnessing the waters of the Merrimac and speedily became a world renown manufacturing center, featuring high grade shoes and slippers.

Bradford Jr. College established in 1803, the first girls school in New England is located there.

John Greenleaf Whittier whose New England poems are a definite chapter of American literature was born and lived here.

MARLBORO

The Worcester Federal Band, Ernest E. Walford conducting, will present a concert at Ward Park, Tuesday evening July 18, at 8.00 P.M. The City of Marlboro is sponsoring the concert.

LYNN

The second in a series of concerts being presented at Manning Bowl will be held, Thursday evening, July 20, at 8.15 P.M. The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts, Alexander Thiede conducting will offer a program. The Stadium Commission is sponsoring these concerts. Marlyn Crittendon will be guest violinist.

BOSTON

The first of a series of four oratorios will be presented on the Boston Common, Sunday afternoon, July 16, at 3.00 P.M. Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be sung by The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, A. Buckingham Simson conducting. The concert will be held on the Tremont Street side of the Common near the fountain.

William Haddon, State Director of the Federal Music Project will be guest speaker of the Mansfield Rotary Club, at Mansfield Tavern, Tuesday, July 18, at 12.15 P.M.

THIS WEEK

REVERE is our "honor city" this week.

Settled in 1630, incorporated a town in 1871 and a city in 1914.

Most New England cities bear the names of cities or towns of "Old England", but Revere boasts the name of one of America's heroes, Paul Revere.

Originally called Rumney Marsh when Sir Henry Vane an early Governor of the Bay Colony had his home there. It later became North Chelsea.

Most people think of Revere in terms of the Beach and well they might for its three-mile stretch of sand is considered New England's finest.

A spice mill, still active, was one of Revere's first industries. For many years after its founding, it was operated as a tide-water mill.

A noteworthy incident of the Revolution, which took place here, was "The Battle of Chelsea Creek", when a party of citizens led by Israel Putnam waded in waist deep to capture the British sloop, "Diana".

LAWRENCE

The Essex County Federal Orchestra, Mario Carmosino conducting and Brass Sextet will appear at Turn Hall Recreation Grounds, Sunday evening, July 23, at 8.00. This concert is sponsored by Turn Verein.

THIS WEEK

The recent enactment by Congress requiring dismissal for thirty days of persons employed more than 18 months by the Work Projects Administration, necessitates somewhat of a curtailment of the work of the Federal Music Project for the next few weeks. We trust that our many enthusiastic listeners who may be disappointed by the decrease in the number of concerts will be patient until such time as a reorganization will permit us to again resume playing our many scheduled dates.

Pictured on our front cover is a portion of the Boston Common with the State House in the background. Since 1634 when William Blaxton(Blackstone) sold it to the community it has been "common ground". Originally intended as a pasture for the Colonists it naturally became a training ground for the militia and a meeting place for gatherings of all sorts. Here is located the famous Frog Pond, Army and Navy Monument, a baseball field and Parkman Bandstand which bears the name of one of the City's benefactors and where, incidentally, Federal Music Project units give daily concerts at noon. Separated from the Common by Charles Street is the Public Gardens which daily attracts thousands of visitors in its own right. Here on the Boston Common was where Public Latin School Boys disputed successfully the right of General Gage's British Soldiery preventing their coasting.

ORATORIO

The third and final of the current series of oratorios being presented on Boston Common—on the exact spot shown on our cover, by the way— is H. T. Parker's "Hora Novissima" on Sunday afternoon, July 30 at 3 P.M. The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus with A. Buckingham Simson conducting will perform the oratorio.

LYNN

The Federal Symphony Orchestra of Massachusetts, Alexander Thiede conducting will play the last of the present series of four concerts at Manning Bowl, Thursday evening, August 3, at 8.30. Miss Joan Ruth, soprano, will be guest soloist.

DISTRICT NOTES

DISTRICT ONE

From the Lowell Courier-Citizen: "More than 8000 persons attended the third in the series of Sunday night band concerts on the South Common by the Merrimack Valley Federal Band last evening. An excellent program of standard and popular works was played under the direction of Aldo Agnoletti, conductor. A highlight of the program was the community singing of "God Bless America" by the entire gathering."

DISTRICT TWO

The Medford Federal Band, Luigi Renzetti conducting, will give a concert at Glendale Park, Everett, Monday, July 31, at 7.30 P.M.

The Somerville Federal Orchestra, Vincent DeNunzio conducting, will play on the High School Grounds, Highland Avenue, Somerville, Tuesday evening, August 1, at 7.30 P.M.

DISTRICT THREE

A series of Sunday and Wednesday evening concerts will be presented at the Jamaica Pond Bandstand beginning Sunday, July 30. The Federal Brass Ensemble, Stanley Hassell, conducting, will be heard on that date; The Women's Federal Orchestra, Walter Mayo conducting will offer a program Wednesday evening, August 2.

THIS WEEK

The popularity of summer band concerts never wanes, and if anyone doubts the truth of this assertion, a tour of even a few of the parks where Federal Music Project units are currently playing will be sufficient to convince one. At Lynn, crowds of 5000 and 6000 are on hand for the weekly concerts on the Common; Lowell recently had an audience estimated by park officials as 8000; in Springfield, where Forest Park is a mecca for those who would escape the heat, three different sites are used for concerts, Rustic Pavilion, Marsh's Rest and Paddle Pond; on Boston Common noonday throngs gravitate to Parkman Bandstand.

But a new departure in outdoor concerts is being essayed by the Music Project this season, through the cooperation of Boston's Park Commissioner, William Long. A series of four oratorios on Sunday afternoons is being presented on the Boston Common, with The Commonwealth Federal Orchestra and Chorus, the largest unit of the Project, performing the works.

Because the Parkman Bandstand was not suitable for this type of music, a site was chosen on the slope leading up to the State House with the fountain as a background, which has proven an ideal location.

The first venture, -- Mendelssohn's "Elijah" on July 16, was an instantaneous success; nearly 2500 persons sat or stood on the grass throughout the entire performance. The following week, "Creation" was sung and the next Sunday "Hora Novissima". The fourth and final oratorio is "Hymn of Praise, Sunday, August 6.

For the majority of the listening audiences these oratorios were something entirely different in musical fare; that the audiences appreciated them was shown by the bursts of applause that greeted the conclusion of each number.

State Director William Haddon will be guest speaker at the Framingham Chamber of Commerce weekly luncheon at the Hotel Kimball, Tuesday noon, August 8, and at the Ipswich Rotary Club, Ipswich Tea House, Thursday noon, August 10.

THIS WEEK

(To the reader: The following is written not as a personal tribute but merely in keeping with the policy of this weekly bulletin — to keep our readers informed of every phase of the Music Project's activities. Edward Cummings, Supervisor Information Service)

Perhaps tooting your own horn' shouldn't be done even on a Music Project but we can't help pointing with pride to the excellent work being done by our State Director, Mr. William Haddon, in addressing various associations and service clubs such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Chambers of Commerce, etc., on the purpose and aims of the Project.

More than 130 of these organizations have already heard Mr. Haddon, and have had an opportunity to ask questions of the State Director as to just what the Project is doing and hopes to do.

Requests are constantly coming in from other groups and none are refused regardless of whether it means a trip to the far corners of the state and returning home in the wee hours of the morning, or just around the corner.

The value of these talks is immeasurable, not only to the Music Project but to the Work Projects Administration for it gives persons whose sole knowledge of the work is through newspapers, a chance to learn first hand just what it is all about.

That the talks are well received is evidenced by the fact that last week, for example, the Framingham Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution commending and endorsing the Music Project.

Mr. Haddon's talks have also been of great value in obtaining sponsors for concerts, for innumerable times, following his interesting discourse, he has been asked, "How can we go about having one of your units play in our town?"

An idea of the far flung itinerary of Mr. Haddon may be gained by noting that next week, he will address the Kiwanis Club in Falmouth while the following week, one of his speaking engagements is before the Uxbridge Rotary Club. As both of these particular dates are in the evening it means that many more extra hours after the multitudinous details of the daily office routine are cared for.

Secretaries of organizations desiring to have Mr. Haddon speak at their meetings may obtain information as to available dates by writing to the Federal Music Project, 25 Huntington Avenue, Boston.

THIS WEEK

This is hardly the time of the year that one thinks of school or class work but a look at the activities of the Teaching Division of the Music Project would lead one to believe it was the middle of the school season.

Despite the weather and the natural inclination to avoid indoor tasks, the number of lessons taken weekly by Music Project pupils remains over the 3,000 mark.

At present classes are being held in more than 80 localities in 37 different communities throughout the state. Almost daily, requests come in from prospective pupils inquiring as to teaching facilities in their section.

Lessons are given by experienced professional teachers to pupils who could not otherwise afford to enjoy the benefits of musical study. While the majority of pupils are children, a surprising number are adults.

Only pupils are accepted who can show that they are unable to pay for private instruction. Lessons are given to WPA workers, welfare recipients or in some instances to those whose application has been endorsed by a clergyman or social worker, and to children whose families come under these classifications.

The work of the Teaching Division has been greatly aided by the cooperation of various boys' clubs, settlement houses, American Legion posts, churches, etc., who have donated the use of their rooms for the classes.

Piano, voice and violin lessons are the most popular among pupils although wind and brass instruments have their following. For more advanced pupils there is an opportunity to study harmony, solfeggio and composition.

Instead of holding one recital a year it is the policy of the Teaching Division to hold recitals frequently. From March to June for example, 19 were given. This not only serves as a demonstration of the work accomplished but greatly aids the pupils by giving them an opportunity for public performance.

A number of high school pupils have furthered their interest in music by joining their school band. Recently one youngster proudly informed his Music Project teacher that as a result of the teacher's instruction he had been promoted to first trumpet in the high school band.

Surprising results have been obtained among adult groups, the majority of whom have had no formal music training or who have had none since childhood.

THIS WEEK

Although the Composers' Forum Laboratory holds no monthly public meetings during the summer months, nevertheless it is still a very active division of the Music Project.

Preparations for the fourth consecutive season of formal monthly meetings which runs from October to May are under weigh with plans for further aiding composers. As in the past no obligation of any kind will devolve upon those whose music is presented or those who attend the meetings and take part in the discussions which follow.

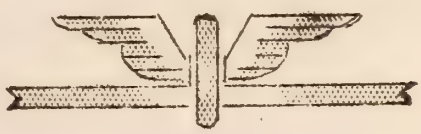

Manuscripts are constantly coming in from composers and must be given careful attention in order to pass on their merits.

Whenever possible rehearsal readings are given by project orchestras or bands, enabling the composer to hear the work played in full by a competent group and make any necessary corrections or revisions.

Many creative musicians feel that this part of the work of the Forum is even more important than the part which the public sees. These rehearsal readings are given throughout the year and particularly during the summer when concert units are more available. Often, composers have heard one of their orchestral works for the first time through the medium of a Forum rehearsal reading, and the same is true of not a few string quartets.

As one composer of symphony works says in a letter to the Music Project "You would understand better my appreciation if I were to tell you of some of the disappointments I have had in the past. It is not that nobody has done anything for me before but you are certainly the first to do anything for me proportionate to the care and labor I have taken to prepare clean score and parts and this without me having done anything for you."

The Composers' Forum Laboratory is happy to receive at any time manuscripts of music of any form for examination. We are also pleased to add to our mailing list the names of any who wish to receive advance notice of Forum meetings.

State Director William Haddon will be guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Peabody Rotary Club, Monday August 28 at 12:15 o'clock.

THIS WEEK

Although this is the first issue of our weekly bulletin in four weeks, the Music Project has not been idle. Far from it - we have been undergoing a process of reorganization and are now able to resume our activities, serving our many thousands of enthusiastic listeners who have attended our concerts in the past.

Under the title of Massachusetts Music Project we are now officially sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Education, Walter E. Downey, commissioner.

Changes in personnel were necessary in complying with the regulation of Congress requiring 30 day furloughs of all persons employed more than 18 consecutive months.

Pictured on our front cover is the coat of arms from the seal of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The Seal was adopted in 1780 although it was not until 1898 that a law was passed making the Secretary of State official custodian of the seal.

Concerning the seal, the following from the Council Records of December 13, 1780, is of interest: "Ordered, that Nathan Cushing Esqr. be a committee to prepare a Seal for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, who reported a device for a Seal for said Commonwealth as follows, viz. Sapphire, an Indian, dressed in his Shirt, Moggosins, belted proper, in his right hand a Bow, Topaz, in his left an Arrow, its point toward the base: of the second on the Dexter side of the Indian's head a Star, Pearl, for one of the United States of America.

Crest: on a wreath a Dexter Arm clothed and ruffed proper grasping a Broad Sword the Pummel and Hilt Topaz with this motto - Ense petit placidam sub libertate quietum - and around the Seal, Sigillum Reipublicae Massachusettensis. Advised that the said Report be Accepted as the Arms of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The motto which translated means: "By the sword we seek peace, but peace only under liberty" had been adopted by the Provincial Congress in 1775. It is the second of two lines written about 1659 by Algernon Sidney, famous English patriot in the Book of Mottoes in the King's library at Copenhagen, Denmark.

With this issue we start a new series of cover designs, showing the Seals of our sponsor and co-sponsors. Next week's picture will be the Seal of the City of Haverhill.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the seal of the City of Haverhill.

A study of the seal reveals the entire history of the city in miniature. Settled in 1640 the locality was known to the Indians as Pentucket.

The name Haverhill was chosen in honor of the Reverend John Ward, the first minister who came from Haverhill, England. Undoubtedly the mural coronet above the shield represents the English origin of the name.

At the top of the shield are the symbols of Haverhill's industrial greatness. An arm and hand holding a shoemaker's hammer with a slipper on one side and a Congress boot on the other. While the Congress boot succumbed to the tides of fashion, the slipper has brought the city the nickname and world wide renown as "The Slipper City".

At the base of the shield is a landscape featuring Golden Hill with the sun rising over it, indicative of the spirit of the founding fathers - that Haverhill's sun would always be in the ascendency.

Separating these two is a glimpse of the Merrimack River whose waters have been the life blood of the city; first as a shipping and shipbuilding center and following the construction of the chain bridge at Newburyport in 1811, as the power that turned the wheels of the factories.

Beneath the shield is a wreath of oak and laurel leaves, the oak on the left side and the laurel on the right side.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of the town of Watertown

25 HUNTINGTON AVE. BOSTON

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the seal of the Town of Watertown.

The seal shows an English Colonist and an Indian exchanging, as peace tokens, bread for fish; from whence came the Latin inscription at the bottom of the seal "In Pace Condita" - founded in peace.

Concerning the event, Captain Roger Clap, who landed at Nantasket Point in 1630 and rowed up the Charles River to Gerry's Landing with the first Watertown colonists tells the following story (Watertown's Military History).

"We went up the Charles River until the river grew narrow and shallow, and there we landed our goods with much labor and toil, the bank being steep and night coming on.

"We were informed that there were hard by us three hundred Indians. One Englishman that could speak the Indian language (an old Planter) went to them and advised them not to come near us in the night; and they hearkened to his counsels, and came not. I myself was one of the sentinels that first night. Our Captain was a Low Country soldier, one Mr. Southcot, a brave soldier.

"In the morning some of the Indians looking at us, but came not near us; but when they had been a while in view some of them came and held out a great Bass toward us; so we sent a man with a Bisket, and changed the Cake for a Bass. Afterwards they supplied us with Bass, exchanging a Bass for a Bisket Cake, and were very friendly to us.

"O dear children! Forget not what care God had over his dear servants, to watch over and protect us in our weak beginnings. Capt. Squeb turned ashore us and our goods, like a mercyless man, but God, ever our Mercyful God, took pity on us; so that we were supplied, first with a boat, and then caused many Indians (some hundreds) to be ruled by the advice of one man not to come near us. Alas, had they come, how soon might they have destroyed us! I think we were not above ten in number. But God caused the Indians to help us with fish at very cheap rates."

(Although the 'old Planter' is not named by Captain Clap it is believed to have been John Oldham whose boat the colonists had borrowed when Captain Squeb of the 'Mary and John' had for some unknown reason landed 120 of them at Hull instead of Charlestown-Editor)

Next week's cover design will be the seal of the city of Westfield.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design shows the Seal of the City of Westfield.

Westfield honors on its seal its greatest hero, Major General William Shepherd, of Revolutionary War and Shay's Rebellion fame. It was General Shepherd who defended the Federal Government's Arsenal at Springfield from the forces led by Daniel Shay during the winter of 1786-1787. A diplomat as well as soldier, General Shepherd had in the earlier days of the rebellion protected the Court House and Arsenal in Springfield by show of arms but a few months later was forced to fire on the insurgents when another attempt was made to capture the Arsenal.

Had the insurgents been successful, it might conceivably have changed the whole history of the new nation.

In 1919 the statue pictured on the seal was erected by private donation and town funds. The sculptor was Augustus Lukeman of New York.

Westfield was first settled in 1660, although trappers had been in the vicinity, known by the Indian name of Woronoak as early as 1640; in 1669 it became a town and in 1920 a city.

The name Westfield was chosen because it was due west of Boston and the westernmost settlement in the colony.

Westfield is the site of a State Teachers' College, the second to be established in the country. For many years it enjoyed the sobriquet of "Whip City" when it manufactured more than 90 percent of all the whips in the world. A pure food crusade with far reaching effect was started here in 1904 by Professor Lewis B. Allyn of the Normal School and the Westfield Board of Health.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of the city of Taunton.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the seal of the City of Taunton, one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

The seal shows in the center, on a shield, the original purchase of the territory in 1637 by a woman, Elizabeth Poole from the Indians for we are told, 'a jacknife and pot of beans'.

Above the shield is the motto "Dux femina facti", (A Woman was the leader of the things accomplished.)

On the right is a railroad depot, cars and machine shops; on the left Taunton Great River, shipping and warehouses. The upper border of the seal bears the word "Taunton"; the lower border, "A town 1639, a city 1864".

Taunton claims the distinction of being the only city in the United States founded by a woman.

The diary of Governor John Winthrop tells us "This year (1637) a plantation was begun at Tecticutt by a gentlewoman, an ancient maid, one Mistress Poole. She endured much hardships and lost much cattle."

Taunton today is the largest city in point of area in the commonwealth. Since colonial times it has been a center of industrial activity.

Taunton was the home of Isaac Babbitt the inventor of the metal which bears his name.

Bristol Academy and Wheaton College two of the oldest educational intitutions in America are located in Taunton.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the town of Ipswich.

William Haddon, State Supervisor of the Massachusetts Music Project will be guest speaker at The Home Makers' Club, Women's Union, Fall River, on Wednesday, November 8, at 2:30 P.M. and at The State Federation of Women's Clubs, Masonic Building, Main Street, Sandwich, Friday, November 10 at 12:00 Noon.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design shows the seal of the Town of Ipswich, one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

The seal shows in the upper part of the center a view of Ipswich with the spires of the First and Methodist Churches predominant. The Ipswich River is in the foreground.

Beneath the river are the words "The Birthplace of American Independence" and the date 1687.

The circle surrounding the seal carries on the upper half of the border the words "Ipswich Mass U.S.A." The lower half "Inc. 1634".

Between the "Inc" and the date, 1634 are the Scales of Justice, representing the Law; an open Bible representing the Clergy; a Sword, representing the Military. Three professions in which men of Ipswich have achieved honor and distinction.

Concerning the phrase "The Birthplace of American Independence", Edward S. Cogswell, present Town Clerk, supplies the following, from the records of Ipswich:

"At a Legal Town Meeting held August 23, 1687 assembled by virtue of an order from John Usher, Esq., Treasurer, for choosing a Commission to join with the Selectmen to assess the Inhabitants according to an act of his Excellency the Governor and Counsell for Levying rates.

"Then considering that the said Act doth infringe them Liberty as free born English subjects of his Majestie by interfering with the statutory Laws of the Land, by which it is enacted that no taxes shall be Levied on the subjects without the consent of an assembly chosen by the Freeholders for assessing the same.

"They do therefore vote that they are not willing to choose a Commissioner for such an end without said priviledges.

"And moreover consent not that the Selectmen do prosead to lay out any such rate, until it be appointed by a General Assembly, concurring with the Governor and Counsell. Voted by the whole assembly twisse."

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the city of Brockton.

William Haddon, State Supervisor of the Massachusetts Music Project will be guest speaker at the Salem Rotary Club, Hotel Hawthorne, Salem, on Tuesday, November 14, at 12:00 Noon and at the Women's Guild, Union Evangelical Church, Hopedale on Wednesday, November 15, at 2:30 P.M.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the seal of the City of Brockton, one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

The seal is described in the Revised Ordinances of Brockton as follows:

A circle, enclosing a concentric ring within which is a shield, upon which is a representation of "Sachem's Rock" with Miles Standish and Massasoit treating for the purchase of the Bridgewaters, and beneath which representation is the inscription, "Sachem's Rock 1649"; across the upper and central portion of the seal, and crossing said ring and shield, the words "Education" "Industry" and "Progress"; at the top of the whole design and crossing said ring a keystone shaped escutcheon bearing the device of a beehive; on the right, across said ring a rectangular shield on which is represented the electric light; and on the left a similarly placed and shaped escutcheon with the globe for a device the upper portion of said ring having the inscription, "Settled 1700", on the left, "a Town, 1821", on the right, and on the lower portion of the same, the words, "City of Brockton, 1881";--.

The territory now comprising Brockton was the North Parish of Bridgewater until 1821 when it became a separate town under the name of North Bridgewater.

In 1874 the name Brockton was chosen to avoid confusion with the original town of Bridgewater. At the time Many of the citizens favored naming the town "Standish" but Brockton was finally selected.

The rapid growth of the town due to the boot and shoe industry led to its incorporation as a city in 1881.

The conventional globe and beehive device were chosen to symbolize "Education" and "Industry". "Progress" is represented by an electric light because Brockton claims to be the first city in the world to light its streets by electricity and to run electric street cars. Thomas A. Edison was among the invited guests who witnessed the first trip of the electric car.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the City of Northampton.

William Haddon, State Supervisor of the Massachusetts Music Project will be guest speaker at the Y. M. C. A. 199 North Main Street, Fall River, Friday evening, November 24 at 8 P.M.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the seal of the City of Northampton one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

The seal shows in the background those two landmarks of Northampton, Mt. Tom and Mt. Holyoke, named for two early Springfield settlers. In the foreground is a view of the city today, an active industrial-residential community.

Two female figures are also shown with a globe and the scales of justice beneath and the words, "Caritas, Justitia, Educatio", Charity, Justice, Education.

Near the top of the seal beneath the name "Northampton" is "Nonotuck, 1653" "City 1883". This refers to the first name of the territory; so-called because it was the home of the Nonotuck Indians from whom a group of Connecticut men purchased the land in 1653. An Indian 'peace-pipe' separates the dates.

The name Northampton was adopted by the settlers in 1654 and two years later the General Court incorporated the town. In 1883 it became a city.

The seal was designed by Thomas M. Shepherd, a resident of Northampton and adopted March 31, 1884.

Northampton is the home of Smith College, founded by Sophia Smith in 1875 and world renowned as a college for women.

Northampton is best known to the average person as the home of the late Calvin Coolidge, 30th President of the United States, who started in public life there and returned to Northampton after his service in the White House to spend his remaining days.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the City of Salem.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the Seal of the City of Salem, one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

Salem's romantic history is aptly pictured on the seal. An Oriental bearing a parasol and in the background palm trees and a sailing ship. Underneath the Latin inscription "Divitis Indiae usque ad ultimum sinum" which translated reads "To the farthermost parts of the rich East".

The upper border of the seal bears the words "Salem: Condita A.D. 1626", the lower border, "Civitatis Regimine Donata, A.D. 1836".

The glory of Salem's past was her foreign commerce. Salem ships and shipmasters were frequent visitors in every part of the world It was through the intrepidity of Salem men that the East, China, Japan and the Indies was opened to American commerce.

Although shipping has practically disappeared, Salem is still a thriving, enterprising community. A number of factories are located there and an intensive campaign to attract the attention of tourists to its historic places has been productive of results.

No mention of Salem is complete without reference to Nathaniel Hawthorne, whose writings have given the world an insight into New England life in the 1800s. The House of Seven Gables still stands and has become a focal point for visitors.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the City of Fitchburg.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the Seal of the City of Fitchburg, one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

The principal feature of the seal is a group of machines and a bale of cotton in the foreground indicative of Fitchburg's industrial activity. In the background are the Nashua River, a railroad train and Rollstone Hill with a derrick marking the site of a quarry.

Fitchburg thus pays tribute to its manufactories which have established the phrase 'Made in Fitchburg' as a mark of integrity and performance throughout the world. Very few cities anywhere can boast of as many 'specialty' machine shops particularly in heavy duty lines as this city.

Paper making is one of the principal activities of Fitchburg. Many national magazines are printed on paper made here.

Since earliest times quarrying has been carried on extensively.

Fitchburg is an important railroad center and due to the excellence of its mechanics has also been a leading source of manufacture of railway tools.

The top of the seal bears the name of the city "Fitchburg" and around the lower half of the border "A Town Feb 3, 1764 -- A City March 8, 1872".

Fitchburg originally was a part of Lunenburg. At its incorporation it took the name of John Fitch, a valiant Indian fighter of colonial days who maintained "Fitch's Garrison" in what is now Ashby. The name of the town incidentally was spelled "Fitchburgh" on the charter granted by the General Court.

In Fitchburg was organized Taylor Union, No. 1, the first organization of veterans of the Civil War. Upon the formation of the Grand Army of the Republic in Illinois, Taylor Union became a member of the G.A.R.

Fitchburg has an especial interest to women for it was here that the world famous "Butterick Pattern" business was begun in 1863.

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the City of Newburyport.

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our cover design is the Seal of the City of Newburyport another of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

From the official records of the city we learn: "The seal of the city shall bear as a device the shield, crest and scroll of the arms of the city, with the legend, 'City of Newburyport, A.D. MDCCCLI'. "The arms of the city shall be the following, to wit: Quarterly, first two lighthouses, in the distance a ship under full sail; second, a steam mill; third, a ship on the stocks; and fourth, the seal of Newbury in England on a mount, three domed towers, on each a penon; crest, a mural coronet, surmounted by two hands conjoined; supporters, two female figures, that on the dexter side representing America and that on the sinister Massachusetts; scroll, Terra Marique."

Newburyport was originally a part of Newbury until 1764, when the residents of the 'water side' were granted permission to incorporate as Newburyport.

The excellent harbor existing at that time at the mouth of the Merrimack together with the accessability of timber from New Hampshire led to shipbuilding and and shipping as major industries.

Among many other famed ship builders was Donald McKay whose clipper ships won admiration throughout the seven seas.

Although the change from sails to steam as a motive power and the appearance of a sand-bar in the harbor doomed Newburyport as a shipping center it has attained considerable prominence in manufacturing.

Newburyport's noted High Street where lived many of the captains of its fleet of merchantmen, remains as a living memento of those glorious times and an outstanding example of the architecture of the early 1800s.

In 1714, while still Newbury, the Reverend John Tufts of the Second Church published the first book in America containing tunes sung by note, 'a very plain and easy introduction to the art of singing psalm tunes'.

Jacob Perkins, an early American inventor is among Newburyport's noted sons. Apprenticed to a goldsmith he became outstanding as an engraver, making coins for Massachusetts and later developing new and better methods of stereotyping.

William Lloyd Garrison, ardent anti-slavery advocate, was born in Newburyport and published here the "Free Press". It was in the "Free Press" that the poet John Greenleaf Whittier's first verse was published.

No mention of Newburyport would be complete without mention of "Lord" Timothy Dexter, whose eccentricities have become an American legend. Selling warming pans for molasses ladles to the West Indies must always remain as the height of Yankee ingenuity.

25 HUNTINGTON AVENUE BOSTON

The MASSACHUSETTS MUSIC PROJECT through its State Supervisor, William Haddon, extends the Season's Greetings to its friends and to all lovers of music.

The Christmas season is one of the few periods of the year that has a particular form of music associated with it. Christmas and carol singing are almost synonymous. Everywhere groups gather, in homes, offices, clubs, on the streets, to sing 'tidings of comfort and joy'.

But music is not seasonal-there is no time of the year when music is 'best'. Music can express or suit all our moods and fancies--at any season of the year. Music can serve as an inspiration and comfort all days of the year.

We of the MUSIC PROJECT who are striving hard to inculcate and keep alive a love of good music and to preserve the art and skill of good musicians can think of no better Christmas present to our many friends than to wish that they may continue to enjoy our efforts; while we in turn will endeavor throughout the year to bring them 'tidings of comfort and joy'.

THIS SCHEDULE SUBJECT TO REVISION

HARK! THE HERALD ANGELS SING

Hark! the herald angels sing:
Glory to the new born King;
Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled!
Joyful, all ye nations, rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With the angelic host proclaim
Christ is born in Bethlehem.
Hark! the herald angels sing,
Glory to the new born King. Amen

O COME ALL YE FAITHFUL

O come all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant
O come ye, O come ye
To Bethlehem;
Come and behold Him,
Born the King of Angels;
O come let us adore Him,
O come let us adore Him,
O come let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord. Amen

IT CAME UPON THE MIDNIGHT CLEAR

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near to earth,
To touch their harps of gold.
Peace on the earth, good will to men
From heaven's all gracious King,
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.

O LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie.
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light,
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

SILENT NIGHT

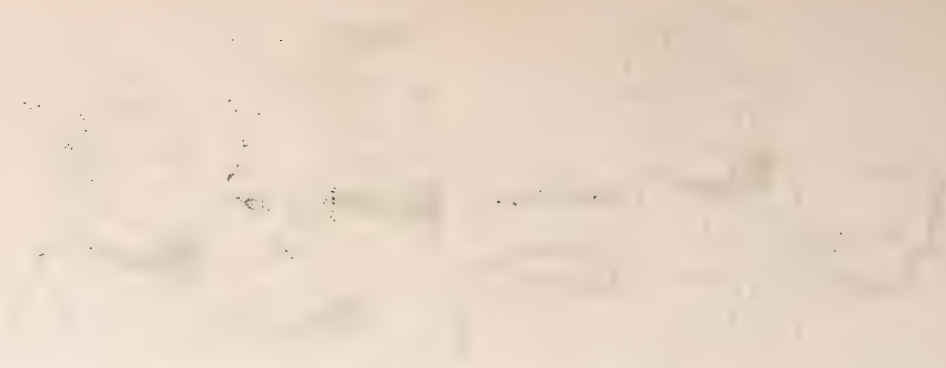

Silent Night, Holy Night
All is calm, all is bright,
'Round yon Virgin Mother and Child
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent Night, Holy Night
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heavenly hosts sing Alleluia
Christ the Saviour is born,
Christ the Saviour is born.

GOD REST YOU. MERRY, GENTLEMEN

God rest you merry, Gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay,
Remember Christ our Saviour
Was born on Christmas Day.
To save us all from Satan's pow'r
When we were gone astray.

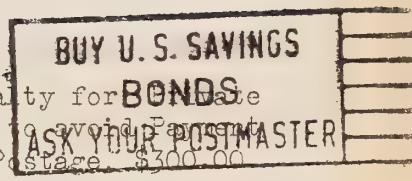

O, tidings of comfort and Joy
Comfort and Joy,
O, tidings of comfort and Joy.

25 HUNTINGTON AVE. BOSTON

THIS WEEK

THIS WEEK our design is the Seal of the City of Boston, one of the co-sponsors of the Massachusetts Music Project.

From the Revised Ordinances of 1890, section 9 we learn: The Seal of the city shall be circular in form, shall bear a view of the city, the motto "Sicut Patribus Sit Deus Nobis" and the inscription, "Bostonia condita A.D. 1630, Civitatis Regimine Donata A.D. 1822", as established by the ordinance passed January 2, 1823 as herewith set forth.

The same year, 1890, it is interesting to note that one William H. Whitmore petitioned the Board of Alderman for the adoption of a coat-of-arms in addition to the seal in order that all parts of Boston, the old city, the cities of Roxbury and Charlestown and the town of Dorchester, might receive equal recognition.

It was Mr. Whitmore's idea that the coat-of-arms be divided in quarters:
1. For Boston, a view of the city, substantially as shown on the city seal.
2. For Charlestown, a mound in a base thereon an obelisk (Bunker Hill Monument-ed.)
3. For Roxbury, a hill of rocks, on the top a cross.
4. For Dorchester, a view of the bay, in the distance a ship approaching the land; in the foreground an Indian in a canoe.

The same motto as on the seal, was to be used on the coat-of-arms. The coat-of-arms however, was never officially adopted.

It was also Mr. Whitmore's suggestion that the words. 'Seal of the City of Boston' be placed around the seal.

The translation of the motto on the seal is; "God be with us, as He was with our fathers".

Next week's cover design will be the seal of another of our co-sponsors, the city of Springfield.
